

An exciting position to serve as the Director of the Emergency and Critical Care Service has opened at London Vet Specialists, part of the Linnaeus Group, in Belsize Park, North Central London.

This is an excellent opportunity for a criticalist to hone their skills and work with some of the industries most talented surgeons and specialists in a beautiful area of North London. We provide unparalleled medical care to our patients and outstanding service to our clients. We welcome team players and excellent communicators to apply. Clinical role includes oversight of the hospital which operates 24 hours a day, 365 days a year and houses central London's most advanced emergency centre, including a new purpose built intensive care unit. You will be supported by a team of vets and nurses with an interest in the field of emergency and critical care.

Both part time and full time positions may be considered, with working hours 42/week for a full time role. We offer a competitive salary, including a base pay with potential for a bonus scheme. Annual leave of 34 days a year plus a generous CPD time off and budget. VDS, RCVS and specialty association membership fees paid. A veterinary qualification that can be registered with the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons is essential. The ideal candidate must have experience of and enthusiasm for teaching, and be a diplomat of the European or American College of Veterinary Emergency and Critical Care and have completed an ACVECC/ECVECC approved residency training program.

More information can be found at www.londonvetspecialists.vet and I would be delighted to chat about the team we are continuing to build and can be reached via email at janet.mcclaran@londonvetspecialists.vet or by phone at 02074330155

Closing Date:1-6-20

All communications will be kept confidential.